

Sean Chilton

CEO

Sean Chilton is a Registered Nurse and seasoned health executive with over three decades of progressive leadership across one of Canada's largest and most complex health systems. Prior to joining Health Workforce Canada as CEO, he served as Senior Vice President of Clinical Operations with Alberta Health Services. Sean is known for driving transformational change, building high-performing teams, and delivering strategic results in dynamic, high-pressure environments.

Longer Bio

Sean Chilton joined Health Workforce Canada as Chief Executive Officer on December 1, 2025. He has over three decades of progressive leadership experience in various health care organizations. His most recent role was Senior Vice President of Clinical Operations, Alberta Health Services.

In addition to his wide range of clinical, operational, corporate and strategic leadership experience, Sean is recognized for forging strong partnerships with government, Indigenous communities, unions, and academic institutions, while championing patient-centered care, technology and workforce innovation. He led the development of the Alberta-wide Health Workforce Strategy to support recruitment, retention and optimization.

Sean is a Registered Nurse, graduating from the Royal Oldham School of Nursing in Oldham, England. He was the 2022 recipient of the Canadian College of Health Leader's Nursing Leadership Award, acknowledging his accomplished career and dedication to patient-centred care and leadership. He is a lifelong learner who recently completed a Fellowship in Health System Improvement with the School of Public Health at the University of Alberta.